I am grateful to my God, my wife, and children Abigail, Horeb and Eliel Kimbati. In addition, I thank Pastor Pascal Kankonde, Apostle Vhote Nsuma, Apostle Jean Baptiste Bongo and Apostle Loly Bicoza. Also, I thank the Church of God The Covenant Box Church, Tyrannus Bible college. Finally, Apostle Jean TSHIBANGU, Doctor Tsitsi Bolambo, and Minister Dede Kankonde. My God bless you for your strongest support.

FOREWORD

Aaron Kimbati is a man of God who is deeply immersed in the Holy Scriptures with the purpose of illuminating the areas of darkness. As with everyone else, you will experience a range of emotions. Regardless of your status, you will encounter life's unexpected twists and turns. "There is no such thing as good without light," because evil lurks in the shadows. Without light, it is impossible to see or find what you are looking for.

What is the primary objective of the book in our hands? According to the prophet Isaiah, "the people who walk in darkness have seen a great light; light has dawned on those who dwell in the land of deep darkness" (Isaiah 9:2). What exactly is darkness and what does light imply?

Aaron has taken several pages in this book to demonstrate the critical nature of transitioning from darkness to light. Jesus is light, and he declares that we, too, are light. The man who is walking in the dark is a corpse. Light is synonymous with life, while darkness is synonymous with death. The light is Jesus, and the darkness is Satan. Jesus imparts life, whereas Satan imparts death.

Since I've known Aaron, I've been awestruck by his pertinence in regard to God's Word. We all come from one side, one area, and one life in this world, which keeps us in the dark. Consider the following Scriptures that further describe this light-filled transformation: We read in Genesis chapter one verses 2 and 3: "God created the heavens and the earth in the beginning. Now that the earth was formless and void of darkness, the Spirit of God hovered over the waters. "Let there be light," God said, and there was light. God saw that light was good and distinguished it from darkness. God designated the day as "day," and the night as "night." And there were evenings and mornings—the first day" (2:1–5) (Genesis 1:2–5). "Once upon a time, we were in the dark, but God sent His Son to rescue us and bring us into the light. This light does not originate in this world, but in the one who created it. According to the Holy Scriptures, "Light has come into the world, but people preferred darkness to light due to their evil deeds." (James 3:19). God's eternal purpose has always been to bring light into the world's darkness. Jesus came in the form of light to bring light to places where there is darkness. The darkness yielded to the light.

We are salt and light as Christians because we have been transformed from darkness to light. Isn't that what Jesus told Saul his mission was: "to open their eyes, that they may turn from darkness to light and from Satan's power to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins and an inheritance among those sanctified through faith in Jesus." (Acts 26:18).
