

mother had always been there for me. Thus, I spent my entire life in the streets and learned a lot about childhood life. I could be a bad boy because growing up in the streets can have a negative impact on a child's education, and if he is not lucky enough, he will turn into a robber or a gangster. But fortunately, I went to high school and kept being a good student, so I raised my awareness and I even got a chance to be taught by outstanding teachers. I remember once my Philosophy teacher said : you better undergo injustice rather than practice it. When I heard that, it turned my life around, and so I decided to live a righteous life. Man, I made so many mistakes when I was young but I had a lot of other second chances, and I did my best to create myself by choosing my pathway.

The advantage that you have when you know where you are going is the ability to direct and command your life. It becomes a privilege for you to get up and feel valuable, for you know that where you are going right now is the right direction, so you should not get on your nerves and break everything around you by not knowing where you must choose to go. Choose and go for it because the more you ignore what your road is, the more you bring misery, unpredictable situations and potential failures in your life. And to the contrary, the more you know your pathway, the more you get accustomed to moving and evolving into progress. That is where hope takes place, for you can see the end before the beginning even starts. You should hold that rope not for staying in the same place as you will get tired and fail, you should do so for the purpose of moving forward because you know exactly what your destination is. You are not foreshadowed to live just on earth for example. And even if it is the case, it is up to you to decide whether or not you want to reverse the rule, so you can say: I am foreordained to leave the earth and go live on Mars. There are plenty of interpretations and approaches that you can take with you on your road, so I advise you to go for the ones that can make you move and progress.

Like this, you are not going to be the same, you will progress and make a contribution to humankind.

Consequently, it is obvious that first in your life, you have got to know where you are going because where you are now is your comfort zone. It is a prison which will never give you some clues about what you are up to right now. So, if you know where you are going, you know where and what you are standing for. The reason why most people do not get what they want is because they are stuck where they are. They think living for the now is the ultimate goal for their lives. I used to say to my friends: <<You should be ashamed of yourself unless you know where you are going>> I am telling you, this is one of the best ways to break free from this routine of living the same life: knowing where you are going. You walk, you eat and you think that is all. You go to work, you get home and you think that is all. You sleep, you wake up and you think that is all. You may not be aware of some other things, approaches and insights that can literally change your entire life. That way of looking at life and the world is a result of the world system which has been destroying you since you were born. I remember once in my life that I wanted to be a judge at age 17, and that was my dream job. I talked about it to some of my friends and family members. So my dream was to become a judge. Or, when I went to high school, I discovered that I was talented at Philosophy, and everyone was calling me Mr Philosopher, everyone. To tell the truth, Philosophy had never run through my mind during that time. But today, because of Philosophy, I just felt that my biggest dream, that was to be a judge, got crushed by my excitement about being a philosopher. I even got to write a little book entitled “ The Cry of liberty “. I was more excited about Philosophy than I had ever been about magistrature. I am telling you this little story of mine to make you understand how important it is to question yourself if you want to find out where you are going. That was my case too, I did not give myself a chance to question my dream of being a judge even if I got lucky to realize where I was supposed to go at the
